The Terry and Read Family

First Generation

1. John Terry was born in 1705 in Badger of Askrigg, Yorkshire, England and died in 1773 in England

   The senior Terry Coat of Arms comprises a crest with a lion holding a Fleur-de-lys which denotes the French connection. The shield is argent (silver) with a cross of St George in Gules (red) and four martlets, also in Gules. Martlets usually indicate the fourth son of a family. The motto "Ex Cruse Leo" means "Through the Cross Strength".

   The story of the Terry family does not begin in England or parts of the New World such as Australia or America, places where today the Terry family is both strong in numbers and influence. The Story begins in Scandinavia when in the 9th and 10th centuries Vikings roamed over the seas in there longboats in search of plunder in the form of food and treasure.

   John married Joan Lupton on 11 September, 1732 in Aysgarth Church. Joan was born in Carperby, United Kingdom

Third Generation

15. John Terry (John, John) was born on 21 January, 1771 in Askrigg, Norfolk England and died on 9 July, 1844 in Lachlan Mill, New Norfolk, Tasmania. He was buried in Stephen Street Cemetery, New Norfolk, Tasmania.

John Terry, John (1771-1844), pioneer, was baptized on 17 March 1771, the son of John Terry of The Mill, Redmire, Yorkshire, England, in which county the family had also milling and other interests at Bedale, Forcett and Askrigg. On 12 July 1797 at Hornby, he married Martha, daughter of Thomas Powell, a farmer of Hunters Hill, and for a number of years carried on the family business of milling. In 1818, presumably because of economic conditions, he left England for New South Wales, arriving in Sydney in March 1819 with his family, in the Surry with a letter from the Colonial Office to Governor Macquarie <A020162b.htm>, to whom he appeared 'a good worthy man'. He was apparently dissatisfied with New South Wales and soon sold the livestock, house and three acres (1.2 ha) that he had bought at Liverpool.
After a preliminary visit to Van Diemen's Land, he sailed for Hobart Town in the Prince Leopold, arriving on 6 December 1819 with his wife, eleven children, two servants, 'a pair of millstones and a variety of utensils for the purpose of erecting a water mill'. This mill he proceeded to build at Elizabeth Town (New Norfolk), near the Derwent River, and within a year he was grinding wheat. He also took up a grant of 1400 acres (567 ha) at Macquarie Plains, 'about 10 miles (16 km) up the country' and this property he named Askrigg. There is a charming account by Terry in a letter home (1822) of his early labours in creating a mill, farm and orchard in idyllic surroundings: 'I threw off my coat and rose with the sun, wrought at all that came to hand. I now thank God and consider myself and my family in a very comfortable position … Wild duck in great numbers, as many as 300 to 400 rise at once. Black swan and land quail, wild pigeons coloured like a peacock, and fish in great plenty … Hunt the kangaroo. Trees here cast a shell of bark, not leaves. Wood, when cut green, sinks in the water like a stone. Your shortest day is our longest and your Summer our Winter. The cuckoo cries in the night and mostly in our winter; the man in the moon has his legs upward'.

Governor Macquarie inspected the mill in June 1821. In 1826, Terry told the land commissioners that his output was more than six bushels an hour and that his mill race required all the water of the Lachlan River for six months each year. He had much help from his grown-up sons and had also cleared most of his farm. Terry sought government compensation for alleged injury sustained by the formation of the New Norfolk watercourse. Although the colonial secretary, John Montagu <A020214b.htm>, protested that Terry had predated correspondence by two years to make good his claim, his appeal was accepted in 1841, even if not in the form presented. In 1835, he was also involved in a dispute over a land boundary. A jury decided that both land grants were equally valid and that the error was the fault of the surveyor-general; in due course the Colonial Office ordered that Terry be granted another thirty-six acres (15 ha) elsewhere. Despite these and other vicissitudes, Terry achieved his ambition of creating a patriarchal establishment in what is probably the most English-appearing part of Australia. He died at his home on 8 July 1844. His numerous descendants have intermarried with colonial families all over Australia.

McKay (ed), Journals of the Land Commissioners for Van Diemen's Land 1826-28 (Hob, 1962); Sydney Gazette, July 1844. His numerous descendants have intermarried with colonial families all over Australia.

The Hobart Town Gazette and Southern Reporter for Saturday the 11 December, 1819 have the following notice:

"On Thursday last, 5th, arrived from Sydney via Port Dalrymple, which latter place she left 14 days since, His Majesty's colonial brig Prince Leopold, Mr Chafe, commander, Passengers Mr and Mrs John Terry with 3 sons and 8 daughters and 2 servants. Mr Terry brings a pair of mill stones and a variety of utensils for the purpose of erecting a water mill at this settlement, and the place fixed for that undertaking we are informed is at New Norfolk".

The information received by the Gazette proved to be correct, and John Terry, encouraged by Gov. Sorell, built his first little dwelling, the Lachlan Mill House, which stood between Tynwald and the river, and is remembered by the oldest members of the Terry family as being used for a laundry, storehouse and playhouse for the family then living at Tynwald.

Tynwald (now owned by Mr Plunkett) was given its name by the Hon. W. Moore (born on the Isle of Man), who bought it and built several alterations, including the tower. It was originally the home of John Terry, and was inherited by his son Ralph, who carried on the family milling business. A wooden cottage, still inhabited, but now in a neglected condition, stands further along the hillside from Tynwald near the Millbrook Rise institution. This was also built and used by John Terry.

Thomas Terry, another son, inherited SLATEFORD, which has been a Terry property since 1827, when it was bought from George Brookes. The original house was of stone, but there have been many alterations, and it is now divided in two, one section being the home of Mr. Garrard Terry, the other that of Mr. Gadesden Terry.

Edward Terry inherited ASKRIGG. Of the pioneer Terry daughters, Margaret married Capt. George Frederick Read. Mary married James Walker of the old Barrack Street mill in Hobart, and Grace married Borrodale Wilson, who owned Clarendon, at Gretna.

The MILL-RACE that John Terry built may still be traced quite easily. It runs through varying types of soil and clay and rocky ground to the ruined mill itself, which was built of warm, russet-coloured, local mudstone. The three storeys are now nearly covered with ivy, and the remains of a miller's house, also of mudstone, stands near by. Fire burnt out all the mill's woodwork at the beginning of this century.

The vegetable garden at Lachlan Park is watered from Terry's mill-race, which started at the foot of the hill by the bridge.

A second mill on the Lachlan rivulet, (run by Felix Murray in 1856) stood above the intake of Terry's race. Water was channelled to this mill from a quarter of a mile or so upstream.
JOHN TERRY’S WATER MILL:

John Terry, the man who built the famous mill, came from Yorkshire with the intention of settling in NSW. (The Historical Record I, X state that “Mr. Terry, free settler, his wife and eleven children, came to Sydney in the ship Surrey, Cap. Thos. Raine, on the 4th March 1819). Finding, however, that the climate and conditions there were not to his liking, he came to Tasmania in the following year.

Governor Macquarie granted John Terry 1,500 acres at New Norfolk, of which 100 were at the mouth of the Lachlan, the other 1,400 being at Macquarie Plains, with a half mile on the Derwent, and running back into Mount Belmont. This property he named Askrigg, after the Yorkshire village where he had been born.

Terry, one of the best type of settler, worked hard, and did so well he was able to write to a cousin, M.R. Parker, who was living at Askrigg in Yorkshire, saying, “I have built a capital Spur Geared Mill, as yet I have only one pair of French Stones, a rather bulky mill or machine. It now earns at the rate of 600 pounds a year or thereabouts. And the great road (McCarthy’s) also adjoins this farm. The mill is 19 feet high at the casings. It (and) we can grind 7 bushels an hour when business pushes.

“We have peck, (meaning that their charge was a peck) for every 2 bushels, or one-eighth part, - which is now 2/6d.”

“Some days we take 10 bushels mulcare without (having to use) candle-light. (Mr. L.S. Bethell, B. A. Oxon, in a note points out that the word should be ‘multure’ a Yorkshire and Scotch word the charge or toll made by a miller for grinding grain.) "I contrive to have another fall of water just below the mill, so that I can erect another mill there if necessary. I work the water twice over."

John Terry had cut a watercourse 2,000 yards long, of which 200 yards had to be blasted out with gun-cotton. This millrace varied in depth from seven to nine feet.

"I myself made at half the blacksmith work and the frames, (also) the shell of the mill and the millwright work, except that a labouring man (helped to lift.. and do the trifling work.... We have com brought as far 60 miles to grind, and even from very near Hobart Town."

“I first built a dwelling house”, Terry continues with natural pride, "from which I can see boats pass and re-pass up and down the river and into the mill basin.. And I can see the bullocks with carts on the road behind the mill.. and the front door of the mill and the waterwheel."

"We afterwards built a fowl-house and stockyards, also places for breeding pigs.. We have plenty of apples, pears and other English fruit. Apples hang on the trees like onion ropes."

"I have never yet known the wheat (to be) unsound."

Blackhouse and Walker, the Quakers, spent an evening under Terry’s ‘Hospitable roof’, in February 1834. Extracts from a letter written by John Terry, kindly made available by his descendant, Mr. M.B. Terry of Sunnybanks, Hayes. It is addressed from Lachlan River Mill, Elizabeth Town, Buckinghamshire, Van Diemen’s Land, 10th April 1822. “Dear Cousin, My reason for not writing sooner was that.. I wished to defer it until I had finished the mill. About 10 miles up country I have got a grant of 1,400acres, 700 of which is quite clear for farming and the other 700 has no more upon it than is necessary for building and fencing etc. It has about 1 1/2 miles frontage on the Derwent River. There is a rock runs aslant across the river, forming a weir by nature, where, with a little labour, water may be drawn that would carry 40 pairs of stones in the driest season, and the great road, lately made, runs though the farm, and close to where a mill should stand. All the land on both sides, 40 miles above our high farm, is taken up, ours at the time I chose it, was the highest farm that was occupied. The 1,400 I call Askrigg.

At the mill I has cut the water course about 2,000 yards, 200 yards of which was through rock, no part less than 7 feet, but most of it 9 feet deep.. I let (this work) to five different parties of men and they would not complete it, so I prepared proper tools for drilling the stone. Thomas Moore and I set to work and completed it. I have only about 30 head of cattle and a small flock of sheep. The increase of them rapidly. When I had attended Governor Macquarie he said I was to have 1,500 acres which is now considered as good as 3,000 a little time back. So I returned him many thanks and told him that if 1,500 would not do, the whole Island was too little!

I have not yet informed you how we happen to be at Van Diemen’s Land. When I first landed at Sydney I purchased a windmill not quite finished and before I got freely to work with the intention to complete it, I heard it was only for a lease of 21 years, although I had purchased it as a grant for ever. I went to the Governor to inquire. He told me that it was only for a 21 year's lease, and after that the ground was to be made to the Barrack ground. So I gave up the concern of the windmill... I by all means recommend Van Diemen's Land. The climate, soil and produce are such that no man can in reason wish any part of them to be changed. I threw off my coat, rose with the son and wrought at all that came to hand. And return thanks to God. Scarcely a ship comes without settlers, sometimes as many as a 100 in a ship.

And then John Terry added a P.S. in which he recommended the sport he could hope to enjoy, when, after his incredible activities, he had time to take up his gun and go shooting, as so many of his descendants have done so since. He wrote; there are wild ducks in great numbers, as many as 200 or 300 rise at once; black swan and land quails, wild pigeons coloured like a peacock, and fish in great plenty. He indeed was a man after Macquarie's own heart. (Stieglitz History of New Norfolk and the Derwent Valley).

John married Martha Powell daughter of Thomas Powell of Hunters Hill and Margaret Theakston on 12 July, 1797 in Parish Church of Homby, Yorkshire, England. Martha was born in 1773 in Scotton Fields, Hipswell, North Yorkshire, England. She was christened on 11 May, 1773 in Hipswell Church and died on 12 May, 1856 in Lachlan Mill, New Norfolk, Tasmania. She was buried on 15 May, 1856 in Stephen Street Cemetery, New Norfolk, Tasmania.

Martha was one of 15 children born to Thomas and Margaret Powell, they had a family of 7 girls and 8 boys. Margaret, Martha's mother, was the daughter of Christopher Theakston of Constable Burton and some of the Powell children were born at their mother's home at Constable Burton. Martha was born at Scotton Fields, a farm which no longer exits as the Military Catterick Garrison was built on it in 1914.

Martha was baptised on 11th May, 1773 at Hipswell church, her parents had moved from Scotton to New Park House and then to Hunter's Hill, which were both farms on the Homby Estate which was owned by the family of the Duke of Leeds. At the time of her marriage to John Terry her family were at Hunter's Hill.

John and Martha were married on the 12 July, 1797 at Homby Church which is only a few miles from Richmond. It is a beautiful church that has been well maintained by the gentry that lived in Homby Castle and on the estate surrounding Homby and from the church register information can be gleaned "Few numbers and holers 1785, No. 31 Thomas Powell, Hunter's Hill". Also the entry in the church 'Banns' register No. 170 is as follows: "John Terry, of the chapelry of Redmire, in the parish of Wensly, bachelor and Martha Powell daughter of Thomas Powell of Hunter's Hill, Farmer were married in this church by licence this 12th day of July in the year 1797 by me Thomas Kirby, Vicar. This marriage was solemnised between us (signed) John Terry, Martha Powell..... In the presence of George Dean, Samuel Powell"

Descendants of Martha's Family, the Powell's are still living in the Richmond area as of 1990. (Source John A Terry)

One of the sections granted to George Frederick Read was in Macquarie Street. A large inn, the 'Macquarie' stood on part of it and a dwelling house on the other. Margaret Read spent her last years in this dwelling house. Margaret retained her Yorkshire accent and always spoke of a duck as a "dook" ("oo" as in took). She died at 130 Macquarie Street and was buried in St. John's Church of England Cemetery, New Town, with her sisters Mary, Sarah and Martha and Martha's infant son, David. (Source from Merlyn Pedrick)

George was born on 29 September, 1788 in London, England and died on 23 July, 1860 in "Leyburne", Newtown, Hobart, Tasmania. He was buried on 26 July, 1860 in St David's Cemetery, Hobart, Tasmania, Australia

NOTE: See 'The Driver & Read Family', #3 in Third Generation of that line for Capt. George Frederick Read.
Read, George Frederick (1788-1860), merchant, settler and banker, was born on 29 September 1788 in London. He went to sea when 11 and was probably engaged in the East India Co.'s maritime service until 1808. Later he recorded in his journal that he visited the Derwent settlement that year and again in 1812, but was irritated by having his cargo commandeered and his crew placed on rations. He is believed to have brought the first merchant vessel through Torres Strait, and he continued to trade between Hobart Town, Sydney, Batavia, Calcutta and China.

In May 1814 as master and part-owner of the "Amelia", a Brig built in Bombay and registered in Calcutta of some 80 tons, 2 guns and a crew of 20, he brought tea, sugar, rum and tobacco from Calcutta to Sydney and returned with wine and whale oil. When the "Amelia" returned to Sydney from Calcutta in 1815 it was under the command of Capt. Sam. Shaw. It is recorded in the Rev. Knopwood's Diary of June 1815 that the "Lynx" arrived in Hobart from Sydney carrying flour and horses. In 1816-18 he made voyages between Sydney, the Derwent, Batavia and Calcutta in his brig "Lynx". By July 1818 the "Lynx" was under the command of Capt. Siddins who eventually purchased the vessel. In 1816 he was granted a town allotment in Sydney and a grant of 500 acres in the country, but he suffered from asthma and in June 1818 moved to Hobart in the brig "Sophia" which arrived on July 11 under the command of Capt. James Kelly. His wife and son arrived in the "Jupiter" on 11th October that year under the command of Capt. Ainsworth.

He transferred his merchant establishment there and later formed partnerships with W.A. Bethune and Charles McLachlan. In 1819 he was granted 800 acres at Redlands, Plenty, and four government servants. In 1822 he built a stone warehouse on Hunter's Island facing Sullivan's Cove (the old wharf) and was appointed a magistrate. He was one of the original proprietors of the Bank of Van Diemen's Land and its managing director from 1827 to 1849, living for some time in a 'comfortably fixed' villa on the Derwent. In 1829 he resumed the former business of Read & Bethune, and from then until 1852 acted as agent for John Ingle.

He took a very considerable part in the development of the young colony, not least in its maritime industries, was one of the most important men in its formative years and contributed greatly to the community's welfare. He had interests in several ships trading to India, China and the Philippines, in which his third son, Henry (1828-1894), made several voyages as supercargo, and his ships took part in sealing and whaling. He was a good practical farmer, grew fine wheat, made bricks and helped to establish the salmon ponds at Redlands. He had other properties: Ivanhoe and Kinvarra, in the Plenty-New Norfolk district, Seton near Richmond, and Thornhill near Sorell. He also had a three-storied stone tea-warehouse in Salamanca Place, Hobart, other Hobart town property, and city sections bought at Melbourne's first land sale. He was versatile, enterprising and far-sighted. Lieut-Governor Sorell spoke highly of him, made him an assessor in the Lieut-Governor's Court and in 1822 appointed him a magistrate; however, he fell out with Lieut-Governor Arthur, protested against licensing the press, and was removed from the magistracy.

In 1816 at St Philip's Sydney, he married Elizabeth Driver; they had one son, G.F. Read junior (1817-1854), a pioneer at Port Phillip, and two daughters. His wife died on 19 August 1821, and on 24 November 1824 at St David's Hobart, he married Margaret (1800-1889), daughter of John Terry, a flour-miller of New Norfolk. By his second marriage he had six sons and four daughters. He died at his home, Leyburne, New Town, on 23 July 1860.

Several of his letters to John Ingle were published under the title "Tasmanian Letters 1824-1852 (Christchurch, 1945). (Author - H.C.C. Langdon)"

Family legend has it that George was the eldest son of George IV and a Mrs. Maria Fitzherbert, but no proof has ever been found. On the contrary, when my grandmother Lilly Muriel Smith and her twin, Pearl, were in London, they found that pages had been torn out of every document they investigated. Latterly, James Moss of Wangaratta discovered that Elizabeth Gore's father had been coachman to the governess of the baby George IV.

Married Amelia widow of the Rev. James Mitchell (Scotch) of Hamilton on the 2.1.1869 (Mercury).

Death: (Mercury Nov 1, 1894) "Read - On October 31, G.T. Read, in his 70th year. The Funeral will leave the Bridge, New Norfolk, on Friday at 3 p.m."

Obituary - Tas. Mail, Nov 10, 1894, p 16, Col. 1 "THE HERO OF GABRIEL'S GULLY. On Friday last, in the picturesque little graveyard at New Norfolk, the remains of sturdy old Gabriel Read were laid in Mother Earth, all the aged man could return to the bounteous parent whose golden riches have made his name famous wherever the mining tale is told. For Gabriel Read was the lucky discoverer of the first payable goldfield in the province of Otago, New Zealand; after him Gabriel's Gully, within the courses of the Waitahuna and Tuapeka rivers, was named: and, as he was no niggard with his knowledge, to him the work, and especially New Zealand, owes the wealth which made many others rich, and entirely changed for many years the character of a district which had been doomed to scanty agriculture, but through him became an El Dorado.

It is an old tale now how Gabriel, simple bushman as he was, went out with an equipment of a ten blankets, spade, tin dish, butcher's knife, and about a week's provisions, and, as he himself described in a letter which he wrote to Major Richardson, Superintendent of the province of Otago, "travelled inland about 35 miles, and examined the ravines and tributaries" of the rivers referred to. "I examined," he wrote, "a large area of country, and washed pans of earth in different localities. I found at many places prospects which would hold a certainty that men with the proper tools would be munificently remunerated - and in one place, for 10 hour's work with pay and butcher's knife, I was enabled to collect about 7 oz. of gold."

Read's statement, it is chronicled, was at first received with incredulity. The news seemed too good to be true. Prospectors had been seeking gold for 10 years, and reputed discoveries had been numerous and frequent, but nothing had come of them. But now this letter of Gabriel Read's opened up prospects that dazzled, only to bewilder, the people. He was represented, and truly so, to be possessed of Californian and Australian experience, and shortly afterwards Mr. Hardy, whom Read took with him to confirm his first report, was able from his place in the Provincial Council-chamber to tell his fellow-members, who with eager attention and bated breath listened to his words, that, in company with Mr. Read, he had prospected country about thirty-one miles long by five broad, and in every hole they had sunk they had found the precious metal. The rush set in, for Read's generous act had opened to the public what might have remained hidden for years. "Off to the diggings" was the cry on every hand, and the least to benefit by them and their riches was, perhaps, Gabriel Read himself. Always a wanderer, he continued a prospector, opening up fresh localities in the same province, during which he received two sums of £500, as a tribute from the nation that had received so much from his enterprise and bounty.

Mr. Gabriel Read's life was, however, in the main a sad one. A native of this colony, a fall in the hunting field at an early age inflicted on him traumatic injuries from which he never recovered, and made him subject to fits of violence and eccentricity which were a great source of trouble to himself and his friends.

Of late years his wanderings ceased, but he had the benefit of unremitting care and attention, and passed away quietly at a green old age to the land of riches immeasurable and with alloy. Many a comrade of his in the old days, and many a fortunate digger who had reaped some of the good luck to which he sowed, will join with his Tasmanian friends in saying "Peace to his ashes".

(Gabriel suffered a manic depressive disorder - a pathological disturbance of mood rendering a person to be very excited and elated to an abnormal degree).

Of "Kinvarra" and "Ivanhoe"

MR. JOHN READ - Mercury, March 2, 1874 p.3. "KINVARRA – Mr. John Read's hop ground at Kinvarra is situated between one or two miles further away (from the River Plenty) than Mr. Jamieson's (Glenleith). He has 10 acres of hops, which look of very nice quality, and the vines have a full appearance. An average of about 12 to 14 cwt. may be expected. There has been no spider. Irrigation is carried on from the Derwent. Picking which takes about 30 men, women and children, has about commenced."

JOHN TERRY READ, son of G.F. Read, of 'Kinvarra' and 'Ivanhoe' New Norfolk, was born in Hobart in 1839 and educated in the colony. After leaving school he joined the Bank of Van Diemen's Land as clerk, where he remained upwards of four years. He then took to farming and pastoral pursuits and has since worked his magnificent and valuable estates successfully. The estates comprise an area of about 3,900 acres, 15or which are laid out as an orchard. Four hundred acres are cleared, of which150 approximately are cultivated, the balance being mainly used for grazing. About two years ago a most important coal discovery was made on the 'Ivanhoe' Estate, a seam of highly bituminous coal being found. A prospecting shaft has been sunk to a depth of 72 feet and over 800 tons of excellent coal brought to the surface. The find naturally enhances the value of the property to a very considerable extent, and, owing to its nearness to a ready market with railway and other facilities at hand, it should, when more thoroughly developed, prove one of the best paying coal fields in the colony. Mr. Read was married in 1862 to Miss Nicholson of New Norfolk".

Hobart Town Courier 13 April, 1854. "At New Norfolk, on Thursday, 6th April, by the Rev. W. Hesketti, Robert Cartwright Read, Esq., of Kinvarra, fourth son of G.F. Read, Esq., of New Town to Selina, third daughter of the late Thomas Fenton Esq., of Allanvale.

Mercury, March 2, 1874 p.3. "REDLANDS - Mr. R.C. Read has only thirty-one acres in full bearing this year, as against forty last season, but the area planted is larger. Nine acres have been taken up, and twelve acres planted in another place, which this season will yield about two tons. Five acres more are to be grubbed this year, but a similar area of new land will be planted, so that the total area in full bearing next year will be increased by three acres. The average yield will be about 18cwt. to the acre, an increase on last season, but a decrease in the total yield, consequent on the diminuation in the quality of full bearing, of from two to three tons. Neither the spider or grasshopper has done much or any harm, but the wind has; a great many poles being blown down here as well as on nearly every hop ground in the district. Water for irrigation is brought from the River Plenty, the estate being situated near the Salmon Ponds. A few hands were picking last week, but full work will not begin till today, when there will probably be nearly 250 pickers at work."

"ROBERT CARTWRIGHT READ, son of G.F. Read, J.P., Sheep Breeder, Farmer and Orchardist, "Redlands", Plenty, is the proprietor of the well known Redlands Estate, comprising an area of 1800 acres, of which some 230 are under cultivation, including hops and orchards. The remainder of the estate is devoted sheep-farming and cattle-raising. Mr. Read has an excellent strain of stud merinos, comprising upwards of 150, whilst his half breeds are a fair lot. The estate is beautifully situated, and in one portion of it are the well known Salmon Ponds, Mr. Read being the only one of the original Commissioners of Tasmanian Fisheries now living. At the 'Ponds' as they are familiarly called, rainbow trout, Loch Leven trout, brown trout and salmon trout are hatched, and the ova distributed in the different lakes and tidal streams throughout Tasmania. Mr. Read was born in Hobart in 1829, and educated at Richmond, Campbell Town, and New Town. Owing to ill-health he went to the New Norfolk district, and when sixteen years of age managed 'Ivanhoe', then the property of his father. On leaving there he took over 'Redlands', and has remained there for the past forty-two years. Mr. Read is a Justice of the Peace, and has been on the Bench since he was twenty-six years of age. He was for some few years a member of the New Norfolk Municipal Council, and Commissioner of the Asylum. He has been a member of the local Road Trust for many years past. George married Rachael Harriette Turnbull daughter of James Arthur Perry Turnbull and I V Holt on 26 September, 1896 in New Norfolk, Tasmania. There were no Issue

73. James Charles Read (Margaret Terry, John, John, John) was born on 19 January, 1834 in New Town, Tasmania and died on 5 June, 1905 in "Narrakree", Wangaratta, Victoria

James began his education in Hobart and at the age of 14 was sent to England to finish his education at Dr Butler's School in Brighton, Sussex. On returning to Tasmania, when aged seventeen, he was, for a short time, in a lawyer's office, but the law as a career did not appeal to him so in 1852 he came to Victoria and joined his sister Edith's brother-in-law W.R. Looker (who was married to Elizabeth Terry) who was manager for Mr. J R Murphy, of "Colbinabbin" Station, near Rochester, Victoria, to gain pastoral experience. After four years he purchased "Boorumboot" Station in 1857, near Rochester from Messrs Daly and McWhiter, and sold it 2 years later to the Denham Brothers. In Oct 1858 he took out a lease on "Wahgunyah Station" from John Foord (born Brighton, England 1819) some 34,476 acres, on the Murray River, and in January 1859 he renewed his lease with a partner, Henry J Younger, a member of the Scottish brewing family who owned the Abbey brewery in Edinburgh. (Note Jane F Hunter, the elder sister of Katharine Hunter who was the wife of Myles Patterson, had married William Younger who was also a member of the brewing family).

After marrying in 1860 he and his wife lived in a cottage near the bank of the Murray between the town of Wahgunyah and where the All Saints vineyard now stands. Four of their six children were born there and the other two at "Bontharambo Hills Station", later called Springhurst.

In 1862 Mr. Younger returned to Edinburgh to take control of Younger and Company; James Read then taking over his share. The lease was again renewed in 1866 for a short while but with the gold diggings encroaching and the imminent break-up of the run for free selection he relinquished Wahgunyah and then took up Bontharambo Hills Station from his father-in-law, Rev Joseph Docker in 1867. In 1869, construction of the pink granite homestead was begun by Dadda Dadda creek on the property which stretched from Sugar Loaf Hill to the Bontharambo Plain. He renamed it Springhurst (from the many springs on the property, particularly two not far from the home site, and the old English word "hurst" a wood or grove)
In 1875 he learned that his run was to be cut up for closer settlement and subsequently bought the homestead block of 320 acres. Over time this was increased to 1400 acres by his son John D Read. In 1878, James toured North Queensland with his brother-in-law G F Focker and step-son, Charles Clarke looking for good grazing country. Nothing came of this however and in 1879 he leased "Bedooba" Station, east of the Darling River below Cobar and Wilcannia in partnership with David Evans. This included some 120,000 acres of uncleared and unfenced land. He spent the bulk of his time for the next 14 years on "Bedooba", leaving his wife and step-son, Thomas Clarke, in charge of Springhurst, the latter being responsible for the introduction of dairy cattle and the eventual Springhurst Jersey Stud. In 1893 he gave over the management to his son, John Docker Read, and returned to "Springhurst" where he spent the next ten years or so.

Bad droughts, rabbits and other difficulties made Bedooba untenable by 1904 and John and his family returned to Springhurst while James and his wife retired to live in Wangaratta, building a house there in Vernon Road which they called Narrakree. James died there the following year, 1905, aged 71. Mary Read lived at Narrakree until her death in 1923, aged 95.

James married Mary Jane Docker on 31 May, 1860 at "Bontharambo", Wangaratta, Victoria. Mary was born on 27 June, 1828 in Ship "Adam", Off Lands End, England. She died on 12 February, 1923 at "Narrakree", Wangaratta, Victoria, Australia

Born at sea in sight of Land's End, Cornwall, England. Aunt Spencer's comment about Mary - "...interesting, affectionate and industrious young wife who managed her children well; a very clever, spirited woman; very capable; an intrepid rider; a lady with a good voice who sings very nicely."

Had three sons and three daughters by her second husband James Charles Read.

Letter from her husband, Thomas Clarke to Mary in 1851, (the original is in the AH Smith archive box in Merilyn Pedrick's possession) announcing the death by drowning of her brother Stanley Horrocks Docker: Black Dog Creek

My Dear Mary,
I have most melancholy news for you. It will be necessary for you to prepare yourself with all the fortitude you are possessed of to meet. Recollect Dear Mary it is the will of Almighty God, and against his acts, we ought no to repine - for He alone can... into fortuity and all he does is for the best. With these few remarks I hope before you turn over the leaf you will fall on your knees to ask His consolation.

(Page 2) I know now that you are prepared. Poor Stanley was drowned yesterday near the round hill in coming from the Ovens in company with the mail man and the cook in the kitchen where the.... there was such little... but by some accident his horse got into a hole. Mr. Reid, Mr. Kenyon and... are looking for the body. Take at not if possible too much to heart; as to assume it has been the will of the Almighty and what he does is for the best, altho we poor mortals cannot see it.
Your affectionate husband
Thos Clarke

Envelope in my grandmothers writing (Lillie Muriel Smith) in which the very fragile letter was folded - "Handle please with great care. Very old letter from Thomas Clarke, [my grandfather] (sic) to his wife Mary (Docker) to convey the "melancholy news" of the drawing of her brother, Stanley, in the flooded Black Dog Creek. There were at that time no envelopes. The folding seems to have been intricate, and is apparently addressed to Mr. J. Withers, Black Dog Creek, Ovens, or my grandfather may have been staying with him. The stamp is a very early one of Queen Victoria's reign.

Educated at Melbourne Grammar and Melbourne University, and was for some time Resident Surgeon at the Rockhampton Hospital, Queensland. He bought a practice near Bendigo, and was in charge of the Public Hospital at Horsham for 23½ years. He retired from the medical profession in 1929.

Born at Bontharambo Hills Station at the property owned by his father his name was recorded on his birth certificate as James Stanley Docker Read. Initially he was given private tuition then he went to Hawthorn Grammar School for a year followed by Melbourne Grammar up to Matriculation in 1887. He went onto Melbourne University, entering Trinity College in 1888 and moving to Ormond in 1892. He graduated in medicine (MB) in 1894 and surgery (ChB) in 1895.

He was a resident medical officer at St Vincent's Hospital and then spent 4 years as Resident Surgeon at Rockhampton Hospital, Queensland. It was probably here that he met his future wife, Florence Haylock, who may have been a nurse at the hospital. While on leave from Rockhampton Hospital, he travelled to China and Japan as a ships doctor. He left Rockhampton Hospital in 1900, going to England where he worked for a time at Guys Hospital and Moorfields Ophthalmic Hospital. On his return from England and Europe, about the end of 1901, he bought a practice at Eaglehawk, near Bendigo. In 1902, and while in practice at Eaglehawk, he married Florence Haylock. He was 23 and she 27. Their marriage was celebrated by the Rev GW Carter at Springhurst Station, his parent's home on 15 October, 1902. In a letter dated 16 August, 1902, just before his wedding, he describes the Eaglehawk practice in optimistic terms. He was renting a house called "Thornton", in Church Street, Eaglehawk, from the doctor from whom he was buying the practice. However little more than a year, he had bought a practice in Horsham from a Dr Ritchie and moved there in time for the arrival of their first child, Alfred Hamden, in December, 1903. Obviously something dramatic had happened to cause him to abandon the Eaglehawk practice and move to Horsham.

In Horsham he became the senior medical officer and surgeon at the Horsham public hospital, as well as health officer for the borough. He initially lived and had his practice at "Glenera", then in 1906, he and Florence had a house built in Roberts Avenue which they called "Wintonhurst". It was a spacious two story house with stairs down to a cellar for storing the preserves. The house had a separate entrance to the rooms which were used as the surgery and waiting room. The house is still in good order and is currently being used as a bed and breakfast business. Dr Read shared the districts medical work with one other doctor at that time. When he had to do surgery he arranged for the other doctor to administer the anaesthetic for him. In the early days, house calls were done with a horse and buggy or on horseback. Later he owned first or one of the first cars in Horsham. He practiced for 23 and a half years, retiring from medical practice in 1927. About the time he retired, he arranged the purchase of Clifton, a 4000 acre property 8 miles East of Harrow. He intended to live there with his family while his son Hamden ran the property. In January, 1928 Dr Read, Amy and Ursula set off for Europe, spending about 10 months touring England and Europe. Stanley's sister Margaret was already in Europe and toured with them. They bought a car there and had it shipped back to Australia. When Stanley returned it was evident Hamden was intending to marry, so he decided to buy Glanarvon in Vernon Rd, Wangaratta, in the district where he grew up. On a trip between Harrow and Wangaratta, Stanley suffered a heart attack one morning while cranking his car and died at Hall's Gap on 23 April, 1931. A tribute to his work appears in the Medical Journal of Australia, June 20, 1931.

Named Alfred after his grandfather, Alfred Haylock and Hemden after John Hemden, a character his father admitted, Hamp was sent first to 'The Grange' school in Domain Rd, South Yarra, then to Geelong Grammar for his later education. When he was at Geelong Grammar it had just moved from its former location just off Moorabool St near the centre of Geelong to its new site out at Corio. At that time the school operated a ferry that bought the students from the town across Corio Bay to the Grammar School at Limeburners Bay. Hamp was a good sprinter and won the sprint championship at the school but did not achieve academic distinction, perhaps in part because his mind was not always on the job. He related one instant when he and a friend put a fire cracker in a box of shavings with rather spectacular results. Hamp went onto Longerenong Agricultural College at Dooen, about 12 kilometres out of Horsham. After completing the agriculture course, he took a job as a jackaroo in a property near Longwood.

When Hamp and his sisters were still children, their mother, Florence, still quite young, became ill with tuberculosis. She had a long battle with TB and died when Amy was 19 and Ursula, 16. Amy came home at the end of her education at Toorak College and effectively took charge of the house since her father Dr Stanley worked long hours and was seldom home.

Their father decided to retire when he was about 58 years of age, probably at the end of 1927 and he and Hamp looked for a suitable farm on which the family could settle. They chose Clifton, a 4000 acre property located some 100 km south of Horsham, and about 12 km east of Harrow in Western Victoria. Stanley and Hamp arranged for a large brick house to be built on the property, to replace the small timber cottage that was the only hose there. A new shearing shed was built as well. While the house was being built, Dr Stanley took his daughters on a trip to England and Europe. They set off in January 1928, spending time in Bali and Java on the way, and touring Italy, France, Germany and England. They were away about 10 months. Clifton was left to Hamp to look after. It was during this period that Hamp met Peggie in Harrow, and their romance developed. Peggie at that time was living with Aunt Tibby on an Edgar property on the other side of Harrow. Peggie used to drive Aunt Tibby into Harrow on Thursdays and Hamp made a point of being in Harrow on Thursdays so he could meet Peggie beside the car. Peggie fell out with Aunt Tibby and took off for Melbourne, so Ham bought a half share in an 'Indian'

Edgar. Zoe was born on 17 December, 1906 in Satimer, Coleraine, Victoria, Australia and died remained living there for a further 22 years until her death in 2003. (Source Richard Read)

They first engaged a governess to teach their boys, and then David went to Hamilton College followed by Rod at age seven. Rich began schooling by correspondence under Peggie as tutor. Hamp was just too old to be called up for service in the armed services so he joined the local Volunteer Defence Service Corps in a Company called the ‘Light Horse’. At one stage he was required to go to a training camp at Colac for 3 months. Peggie was left to run the property with the help of a somewhat elderly and deaf farmhand. The task was simply too big and at Peggie’s doctors’ request, Hamp was released from duties at the camp to come home and run the farm. Income was almost entirely from the sale of merino wool; some crops were grown but they were a minor part of the operation.

During the war it was almost impossible to get assistance on the farm because so many young men were involved in the war effort. One of the major difficulties on Clifton was controlling the rabbits which ate much of the feed that should have been available for the sheep. It was almost impossible to eliminate them from the steep and rocky river and creek banks. Towards the end of the war Hamp decided to sell Clifton and move to another where it was easier to control the rabbits. At the time Peggie’s father was managing a property just out of Beaufort and he alerted them of the availability of Niawanda, 12 kilometres from Beaufort. The sale of Clifton and Niawanda were arranged but had to have government approval because under war regulations virtually all commerce was tightly regulated. Just at the critical time, Peggie became pregnant with John, which complicated matters somewhat, so in 1945, the year of the changeover, Rich was farmsed out to Amy and Ursula to attend school in Wangaratta while John

In 1946, Rodney and Richard were sent to Ballarat Grammar as boarders while David went to Geelong Grammar. Niawanda had an area of 3000 acres and produced mainly merino wool, but there was also a dairy with the cream being sent to the Wallace butter factory just beyond Ballarat. In 1951, the Korean War created a big demand for wool, and wool prices rose nearly three-fold. Hamp bought a posh new car - a Humber Super Snipe. They were also able to invest in a holiday home at Point Lonsdale.

Milked a cow, killed sheep for meat and tended a large vegetable garden. The chooks supplied plentiful eggs. There seemed to be a good country social life in the district. Hamp bought a home movie camera and made some amateur movies.

David came home from school and tried various business ventures. He set up a small piggery at Niawanda, and then went share-cropping on neighbouring farms. Neither of these ventures was particularly successful. Hamp then sold a piece of land off the north end of Niawanda and used the money to buy a small farm for David in the Strathbogie Ranges near Euroa. Rodney came home from Ballarat Grammar and started work at Niawanda while John went to Geelong Grammar, Hamp’s old school. Richard left Ballarat Grammar to go to Longerenong College then Melbourne University, while Rodney spent a couple of years jackarooing in South Australia after which he returned to Niawanda. About half of Niawanda was spilt off to give Rodney his own property ‘Crossroads’. After a year of jackarooing, John came back to Niawanda and worked with Hamp. In 1972 Peggie and Hamp retired to their Point Lonsdale home, while John took over the other half of Niawanda. For a time they retained the cottage at Niawanda for visits to the farm. They lived at Point Lonsdale until Hamp died in 1891, while Peggie remained living there for a further 22 years until her death in 2003. (Source Richard Read)

Peggie remembers meeting her great grandmother when she was 8 or 9 years old, and at that time her great grandmother lived in a grand old mansion in the Gardenvale area. Peggie began her education at a small private school at Casterton where her sister Viva was born. Her father sold Satimer and bought Talangour, near Coleriane, in part because his wife, Lesley, wanted to be nearer her family's property, Kadnook, near Harrow. Peggie lived there until she was about 10 years old.
Due to foreclosure on Talangour the family moved to Portland and Peggy remembered on Armistice Day in 1918 when the locals went mad with jubilation. The children were alone in the house and the girls became terrified when a mob of youths came rampaging through their home.

Peggie left school at 14 and went to work at Zirco’s Business College for a year then found a job with Alfred Gross and Company, importers of cigars. The family were living in Mont Albert at this time. Her next job was with Causi Mink in St Kilda Rd, addressing envelopes. Peggy caught polio, which was then called infantile paralysis which affected the muscles of one eye causing it to turn in, and she spent 6 months living with her grandmother, Maggie Edgar, while various treatments were sought. (Maggie was the wife of JT Edgar.) Another job was at Quambatook where she acted as a housekeeper for a doctor’s wife who was expecting a baby.

Peggie’s mother she should go to WA to stay with her father at Jarramungup which he was managing. She and her brother, Keith Richard went across for 6 months where Peggy did much of the housekeeping for her father. Later the rest of the family joined them at Jarramungup which was a large property with two outstations. The older children did a lot of riding. Peggy returned to Victoria when her Aunt Alice, Lesley’s sister, died and Aunt Tibby wrote asking if Peggy would come to live with her at Babbia Mia near Harrow, to act as her driver. It may be that the fact that Peggy had developed ‘an interest’ in one of the jackeroos on the station (who happened to be a nephew of a Dr Newman whom Peggie had seen when her eye was affected by polio) was not entirely coincidental to the move. Babba Mia was a small dairy farm which Aunt Tibby had moved to when her brother married and she left the family property at ‘Pine Hills’. Babba Mia was about 10 miles from Pine Hills and history has it that she drove her turkeys like a flock of sheep to the new property. Peggy had a driving license and had come to be part companion to help Aunt Tibby and part driver. Peggie regularly drove Aunt Tibby into Harrow on Thursdays to do her shopping and to visit friends. Hamden made it a practice to come into Harrow, also on Thursdays, and he and Peggie talked at the car until Aunt Tibby returned. Peggie and Tibby did not get on; in fact there were many people with whom Aunt Tibby did not get along as she had something of an acid tongue. Peggie stayed with Aunt Tibby for the best part of a year, in part because she was seeing Hamden, but finally could stand it no longer and had a blazing row with her Aunt. Peggie said she was going to Melbourne and Aunt Tibby asked what she proposed to do there. Peggie said she would get a job and Aunt Tibby said she would not be able to do so. Peggie packed her large trunk and took the train to Melbourne. Luckily, or more correctly through the agency of another Aunt, Auntie Wicker, she found a job almost immediately, again as a driver, for a wealthy lady, Mrs McGuiness, who lived in Dandenong Road and owned a ‘Reo Flying Cloud’. Mrs McGuiness was involved in charity work, and Peggie regularly drove her through the suburbs of Prahran and Windsor assessing the state of need of people who were to receive charitable assistance. At weekends, it was usual for Mrs McGuiness and her sisters to be loaded into the large Reo and taken for a drive in the Dandenongs.

During this period in Melbourne, Peggie and Hamden remained in regular contact. Hamp bought a half share in a large ‘Indian’ motorcycle so that he could travel to Melbourne to see Peggie. They became engaged and were engaged for about two years before they were married. (Source Richard Read)
